NESTING TABLES

Triptych literally means 'threefold'. This table has been particularly inspired by Francis Bacon, who used the form to show a single subject in three different ways. The three components can make up a distinct unity, nested like a matryoshka doll (a table [inside a table (inside a table)]). Or unfolded to reveal their interlinked parts.

When you pull the tables out, the curving, airy 'n' of their frames takes on a distinctive and dynamic wave-form. These lacquered, Navy Blue or Cedar Green steel frames support a trio of table tops in warm, Monaco Brown marble or Sicilian raw lava stone. Giving every surface a unique, unparalleled swirl.
